

A value added course on “ Basics in Patent Drafting” organized by Department of Microbiology and Intellectual Property Right cell (IPR) of the college in association with PROMETHEUS IP under DBT – STAR college scheme in the month of September 2021. The course duration was for 30 hours.

20 students enrolled for the value added course.

The main objective of the course is to obtain fundamental knowledge required to gain expertise in drafting a patent and filing an application. The course is meant for students of Bsc Microbiology second and third year students. The main outcome of the course is to make students learn the implication of Intellectual property rights and acquire the skill of patent drafting.

Resource persons of the course are Dr. Poornima Chandran, Nehru- Fullbright Doctoral Fellow, Patent Agent and Ms. Anju, Assistant Professor, Department of Microbiology, Member IPR Cell. The course coordinator is Dr. Anuradha, Head, Department of Microbiology and coordinator DBT STAR college sche me.

