

Guest Lectures (2021-22):

International Microorganism Day-2021

International Microorganisms Day was celebrated by Science club and Department of Microbiology, BVC in association with AMI unit, Hyderabad Unit under DBT star college scheme on 17 th September 2021 at 12.30pm. Dr K. Anuradha, Head, Dept of Microbiology, BVC presented the welcome address followed by Dr Y. Ashok, principal, BVC address the gathering. The inaugural message was given by the chief guest of the program Prof Dr Ch. Venkat Ramana, President, AMI Hyderabad unit, Dept of plant sciences, University of Hyderabad. The chief guest elucidated the role of microbes in every walk of human life. A total of 125 students from various colleges had participated in the session. The inaugural message was followed by online quiz and JAM- My favorite microbe in which about 92 enthusiastic participants were involved. The session was ended up by Dr Y. Aparna, Asst. professor, Dept of Microbiology with a vote of thanks

GUEST LECTURE ON “IMMUNOTHERAPY OF CANCER”

Department of Microbiology organized a guest lecture on the topic „immunotherapy of cancer“ on 17th September 2021 at 10.00am under DBT star college scheme. Dr Vidya Jonnalagadda, site head, Aarkus therapeutics India PVT. LTD, the resource person explained about basis of tumor formation, role of mutations in regulating tumor suppressor genes, various viruses causing cancer. She highlighted the scope of immunotherapy in cancer treatment and elaborated on the mechanism of action of antibodies tagged by drugs in cancer therapy. A total of 112 participants including undergraduate and postgraduate students attended the session.

